Los Angeles (May 15, 2023) – Quincy Cass Associates (QCA), is pleased to announce the addition of Brigadier General JOHN J. DRISCOLL, US Army and Army National Guard, Retired to their board of directors as an independent board member.

U.S. Rep. Richard E. Neal describes John as “a pretty modest guy, but when you look at his credentials you are even more struck by his modesty.”

Major General Gary Keefe proclaims, “John is probably the most ethical, sincerely nice individual I’ve ever met! John truly loves people, I’ve watched him socially jump in and interact with people from all walks of life, all ages. He truly loves the human race!”

“When we were looking to add a new member to the QCA Board, said Mark C. Minichiello, chief executive officer, we were looking for someone who was unique and had something special to offer, plus gelled with our culture at the firm, thus we knew immediately that Brigadier General Driscoll was that person! We are excited to welcome John into the QCA family and look forward to the insight he brings to the table with his wealth of experience not only in a leadership role, but as a genuine caring person,” said Mr. Minichiello.

Brigadier General Driscoll holds a degree in mechanical engineering from Northeastern University and a MA in Defense Management from American Military University.
